FOSTORIA'S HISTORY, ENCASED IN GLASS

By Scott Cottos
scottcottos@reviewtimes.com

FOSTORIA — Although it remains a secret to some, Fostoria's Glass Heritage Gallery has begun its 30th season of displaying a wide variety of glass items produced in the city in the late 1800s and early 1900s.

"We want to be here as long as Fostoria is," said Bill King, president of the Fostoria, Ohio Glass Association, a nonprofit which operates the museum at 109 N. Main St. "It's not only about the glass, but about the history and the community."

The gallery was closed for the winter, but it is now open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays; and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays.

Somehow, the awninged building has remained off the radar of some local citizens while continuing to draw the interest of a number of out-of-towners.

"A lot of people from town say they still don't know about us, and I don't understand that," said King, who noted that some type of anniversary celebration is likely in 2022. "We go to a glass show — or had been going until last year (due to the coronavirus pandemic) — for 10 years in Pennsylvania to set up just to promote tourism in Fostoria. We have a membership — they're on the East Coast, West Coast and everywhere in between."

King said the membership numbers more than 200.

"It was a lot bigger in the '90s when we first started," he said. "There was a lot of local enthusiasm. But some of those, unfortunately, passed away or decided not to resupport. But we get a lot of support from some local corporations."

We've been blessed by grants to buy this building, to resurface the front. We had a basement water problem a few years ago. We made a plea to a lot of our members and they came forth with some funds to help, and then we got a grant from the Greater (Fostoria) Community Foundation. Those kinds of things help.

"We (the glass association) own the building now, so we're responsible for maintaining it. And we want to maintain it so it'll be here as long as Fostoria's here. The Fostoria, Ohio, Glass Association operates this, the Glass Heritage Gallery. It's called 'Glass Heritage' because this is more than glass made here. This is the heritage of a lot of local residents."

According to the glass association's website, fostoriaglass.com, 13 different glass companies operated in Fostoria between 1887 and 1920. The earliest plants were drawn to the city because of the large amounts of natural gas that had been discovered in the area and the five railroads that ran through, the website says. The museum displays items from 10 companies that were not involved in manufacturing plate glass.

Among the firms represented are the Fostoria Glass Co., which opened in 1887 before moving to Moundsville, West Virginia, which now has a Fostoria Glass museum of its own. The Consolidated Lamp and Glass Co., which began as the Fostoria Shade and Lamp Co., is widely praised for its colorful glass.

King said most of the glassware — lamps, salt and pepper shakers, vases and other items — is on loan from collectors.

"We started in 1992 with very few items, really, on display, and we've grown to over 1,300 items that we're pretty confident were made here in Fostoria by these companies," he said. "We're always trying to find new research items and new items to display. It's been hard because we have so many now, and it's 100 years-plus that they're all (in age) and a lot of people find these and, unfortunately, just toss them because they're in a hurry and they're in a different state from when their parents passed away or they want to liquidate and they just get rid of it. You may find some of this in Goodwill or find it in antique shops or garage sales. You never know where you'll find it."

King said a current challenge is to get young people interested in glass to continue the tradition in town, as many of those with memberships are in their golden years.

30²⁰²¹ YEARS OF HOPE HOUSE

HOUSING SERVICES FOR THE HOMELESS

Did you Know?

Hope House operates a Transitional Shelter where women and children can live for up to nine months.

The shelter is staffed 24/7 so residents have access to support anytime day or night.

Residents do their own laundry, cooking and household chores.

Donations of personal hygiene products, food and household staples allow the residents to focus on building the necessary funds to regain their independence.

Residents have access to skills classes on budgeting, parenting, cooking, and self-care from community partners.

Professional case management is an important component of the shelter program, guiding residents as they take the next right step.

84% of residents who successfully exit the program are stably housed one year later.

What do the residents say? When residents transition out of the shelter, they complete an exit survey. Here are some thoughts they shared.

What goals did you accomplish while at Hope House?

"I got a job and an apartment, got connected to other resources and found the support I needed for my journey."

What did you learn about yourself?

"I learned that I just need to have patience and keep moving forward. I don't feel so worthless anymore"

What did your Hope House stay mean to you?

"Everything!" ❤️

We'd love to tell you more about Hope House!

Celebrating 40 years of service!

Open Arms Domestic Violence & Rape Crisis Services is celebrating 40 years of serving individuals and families affected by domestic violence and sexual assault in Hancock County.

As we celebrate this milestone, we look back to when we first opened our doors in June 1981 as just an emergency shelter for domestic violence survivors. Over the past 40 years, we have evolved to meet the everchanging needs of our community. Fast forward to 2021, we now offer six different programs to survivors of domestic violence, sexual violence, children, and offenders.

We are truly grateful to our community friends and partners for your continued support. Our growth and success would not be possible without your support.

We look forward to the future and many more years to come in service to our community!

Visit openarmsfindlay.com to celebrate along with us!

Here To Serve Those Who Have Or Are Serving.

The Veterans Service Office is your local agency for practically everything veteran related. We pride ourselves in the fact that when our veterans enter or call our office, our number one priority is to take care of your needs!

The experienced staff in our office is very passionate about the initial and continued care of our veterans in Hancock County. Our mission is to empower and improve the lives of our veterans and their families by serving those who have and are serving. We do this to the best of our ability coupled with love and compassion and we do this with integrity, respect, devotion to service and accountability.

Executive Director and County Veterans
Service Officer

PLEASE BE MINDFUL WITH YOUR FIREWORKS

As we prepare to celebrate the birthday of our great nation, please be mindful that some of our service men and women live with PTSD. Because of this, the unexpected sounds of fireworks can be a trigger for them. The Hancock County Veterans Service Office has free signs for veterans to display in their yard to let their neighbors know that a veteran lives there. If you see this sign in someone's yard, be courteous and do not set off fireworks near their house or notify them in advance of the festivities so it does not take them by surprise. Increased PTSD symptoms can drastically impact a person's ability to function normally for several days. Please do your part to make the experience good for them too. Visit our office to get your sign. We are open Monday through Friday, 8:30 AM-4:30 PM, closing at 3:00 PM every other Tuesday. We thank all of our veterans for their service in protecting our freedoms.

DOG TAGS AND COMBAT BOOTS

Corporal Carolina Flores

Dave Morrow is a peacetime veteran of the USAF and Utah Army National Guard. He was an educator and an EMT. Dave is currently a documentary photographer and writer. He created the website <https://dogtagsandcombatboots.org/> to share the stories of our Veterans. The site is dedicated to the stories of Vietnam Veterans and to the veteran Women Warriors of Ohio. It is hoped to be a place for healing.

Marine Corps veteran, Carolina Flores was born Carolina Martinez in 1986, in Guadalajara, Mexico to Jose and Teresa. She is the third oldest of eight children.

Jose immigrated to America and eventually in 1987 the rest of their family was reunited in California.

Carolina admits she was a teenager with an attitude, trying sometimes to stand out in her large family. At school she excelled on the basketball court. During a "Career Day" for seniors at her high school Carolina saw a Marine recruiter in his "blues" and knew what she wanted to do.

Carolina's recruiter worked with her to straighten up her life and improve her grades in order to qualify for the Marine Corps. When she graduated at seventeen, Carolina asked her father to sign the permission slip to enlist. He adamantly refused!

"I was not nice and told him when I turned 18, I was leaving."

"My grandpa, who had served in the Mexican Army would take me weekly to go "shopping". He would drop me off at the recruiter for an hour where I would train and take the entrance exam. When I turned 18, I secretly took the oath and was sworn into the Marines."

"On September 12th, 2005 I woke my parents up at 5:30 a.m. and told them I was leaving, that the recruiter was outside in the car waiting for me. It didn't go over well and I regretted for a long time how I handled it."

Carolina arrived late at night with a busload of other new recruits at Parris Island, South Carolina. She has a vivid memory of the first Marine D.I. coming aboard the bus and "screaming his welcome to us" in a deep raspy voice.

Carolina recalls standing at attention on the "notorious" yellow footprints outside the barracks. "It was a proud moment for me. It was scary but I was not going to back out even if it was intimidating. I was going to prove my dad wrong. Girls could do this!"

AIT was at Marine Corps Air Station Cherry Point in North Carolina. Her training focused on obtaining and maintaining repair parts, track parts, communication parts such as radios, parts for 7 tons and other required parts for tactical vehicles.

PFC Martinez was sent to the 1st Maintenance Battalion based at Camp Pendleton, California in December of 2006. She was specifically assigned to Area 21, a beachfront area where Marines trained for beach assaults. Carolina was one of four female Marines in her unit of thirty.

Carolina loved the Marines and was determined to make the Corps her career. Many members of her unit would deploy to overseas assignments however Carolina was held back several times due to her job being “essential” to the success of each deployment.”

In one instance her team was given a week to gather equipment and do all the paperwork to allow a unit to do a short notice deployment. Carolina had the task completed in three days. For her efforts she received a letter of appreciation from the commander and a meritorious promotion to Lance Corporal. (This was an especially moving ceremony as her parents, unable to attend basic graduation, were present for her promotion.)

A fellow Marine in the 1st Maint. Battalion, Bryan Flores, from Clearwater, Florida, began expressing interests in Carolina, which she strongly rebuffed at first. Long story short, six months later on February 6th, 2007 they were married in San Marcos, California.

Being married to someone in the military can be tough, double that when both spouses are enlisted. Bryan received orders to deploy to Thailand and then Iraq leaving behind a very pregnant Carolina. Their daughter Alina was four months old before Bryan returned home.

A serious conflict developed when Bryan said he wanted to leave the Marines at the end of his contract, but Carolina deeply wanted to reenlist. This put a serious strain on the marriage. The turning point in Carolina’s life and decision making occurred when she was finally put on the deployment roster.

The military requires that children have guardianship turned over to a non-military family member while the soldier is deployed. Carolina assigned that to her mother, vacated her apartment and prepared to deploy. The day before she was to leave for Afghanistan, she was informed she had been removed from the roster because she only had two months left on her contract. She had intended to re-up while on deployment. The Marine Corps decided they wanted her to reenlist before any deployment.

Her mother sat her down and asked her to consider: “What was more important? Being able to say she had deployed like a good Marine? Or to stay home, raise her infant daughter and salvage her marriage.”

“It was a brutal 24 hours as I thought through what my next life decision would be. The military had given me so much. I had so much I wanted to accomplish in the Corps. Did I want to deploy for the right reasons?”

When the next morning came, she had decided to stay home and leave the Corps when her time was up.

Bryan’s mother lived in Ottawa, Ohio so the family moved there to be closer to his family. In 2011 their son Nathan joined the family. Both Carolina and Bryan earned degrees from the University of Findlay. The family would move to Florida in 2016 for Bryan’s work but have since returned to Ohio, putting down roots by buying a home in Findlay. Carolina is putting her Criminal Justice degree to good use working as a Child Advocate at the Center for Safe and Healthy Children, a Child Advocacy Center, in Findlay.

Besides work Carolina keeps busy with her daughter’s involvement in soccer and cheerleading. Her son is active in soccer and baseball. Carolina is also proud of the fact her home is the safe gathering spot for many of the neighborhood children. They also have two furry babies, Lennox and Jack.

Thank you, Corporal Carolina Flores for your service! Semper Fi Marine!
